

HEY GROWN-UPS!

Today the Net Zero Heroes team has been in school working with your children on the very urgent and important topic of how we can work together to stop climate change.

Please ask them about the assembly they had with polar ambassador and marine biologist Dr Juliette Jackson. Some of the children in the school also took part in her workshop.*

Net Zero Heroes is run by South Dartmoor Community Energy, a non-profit social enterprise, based in the South Hams. For more information about who we are, what we do, how we're funded, go to southdartmoorcommunityenergy.org

At SDCE we're parents ourselves and we know how overwhelming life can get, we also know that you may be thinking "argh, I keep hearing about climate change, does it really matter what I do, is it actually as big a deal as Greta Thunberg makes out? There's too much confusing advice, and I can't even figure out what to cook for dinner tonight..."

Well, yes it is a BIG deal!

Did you know that:

- In the best case scenario we will lose 70-90% of all coral reefs,
- Arctic sea ice is melting more rapidly than predicted leading to sea level rise
- Low lying islands are already being evacuated.

Global greenhouse gas emissions are still increasing - and before we blame China, remember where most of our stuff is made... those Chinese emissions are also ours.

If you're still not sure what climate change is, check out our website for an easy to understand explanation: southdartmoorcommunityenergy.org/net-zero-heroes-hq

Don't despair! Humans have come together in the past and made enormous changes, we must do it again. We already have the technology to stop emissions, but we must all take action individually and ask our governments and big business to take bolder action.

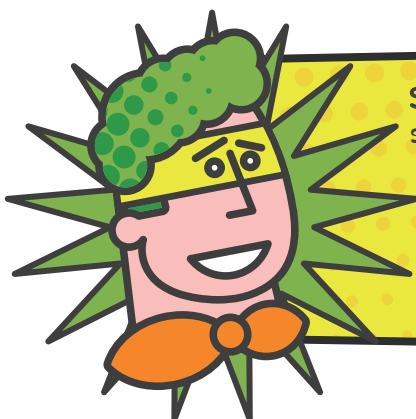

In order to help you figure out what you can do, we'd like to invite you to the Net Zero Heroes roadshow!

Pop in after school for 10 minutes or more to find out more and talk to an expert.
